

Vocabulary Ninja SPaG Spotter

Year 3

Pack 1

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence.
the adverbs	Yesterday, John and Mary went to the library and read quietly.
the determiners	I bought an apple, a banana and three packets of biscuits at the shop.
the proper nouns	Alex and Ali went into London to visit Hamleys, the famous toy shop.
the adjectives	Maria went out into the bright sunshine to admire all the beautiful flowers.
the nouns	The schoolchildren walked quickly and quietly through the museum to get back to their bus.
the co-ordinating conjunction	Elizabeth worked hard in English, but she didn't enjoy maths.
the verbs	Leanne and Greg played basketball while the other children watched and cheered them on.
the pronoun	The monkeys threw bananas and then ate them.
the subordinating conjunction	When the fire-alarm sounded, the children lined up silently.
the prepositions	The ball rolled down the path and under the bush.
the expanded noun phrase	The big, furry dog growled menacingly at the passers by.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
capital letters	leah and jack went to buckingham palace when they visited london.
commas for lists	The zoo had baby lemurs pandas polar bears and camels.
apostrophes for contractions	The teacher didnt want to go outside in the rain.
inverted commas to show speech	Get out of the flower bed ! shouted the gardener angrily .
Question mark, exclamation mark or full stop	What do you want for your tea

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence.
the co-ordinating conjunction	The children hated brussels sprouts, yet they ate them happily on Christmas Day.
the expanded noun phrase	I wrote a long, complicated story.
the adjectives	The cunning weasel carefully watched the tiny baby rabbit before pouncing.
the nouns	Adrian and Jenny walked out of the house and then ran down the road to catch the bus.
the subordinating conjunction	Mum tossed the pancakes while Ben poured out the batter and Louis set the table.
the preposition	James hid behind the sofa during the scary bits of 'Doctor Who'.
the proper nouns	Helen and Aisha enjoyed going on school trips, and the IMAX was their favourite yet.
the pronouns	Lisa hadn't done her homework, but Steve had done his.
the determiner	Michael ordered a huge burger because he was starving.
the verb	The cat watched the baby sparrow on the grass intently.
the adverbs	Brian always ate slowly, but today was a record!
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
question mark, exclamation mark or full stop	What a week
inverted commas to show speech	I want that one , said Andy pointing to a large bar of chocolate .
apostrophe of possession	Liams mum always collected him on a Thursday.
apostrophes of contraction	Id like to go to Disneyland, but I cant afford it.
capital letters	catherine and alan took their grandson, alex, to the park.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence.
the nouns	The pencil was part of a set I won at the fair.
the prepositions	The children crossed over the main road, and then went through the gate and into the park.
the adjectives	The hungry boy ate all the chocolate cake in the fridge.
the proper nouns	Thornton Road leads onto Canterbury Avenue.
the verbs	The young man looked at the menu and then ordered a cheese burger.
the expanded noun phrase	In the cemetery, I walked past the old, gnarled tree.
the determiners	Three pigeons sat on a branch.
the subordinating conjunction	After the goal was scored, the footballer celebrated.
the pronouns	They are sitting there, so we will sit here.
the co-ordinating conjunction	The boys were getting changed quickly so that they could go for lunch.
the adverb	Suddenly the car braked.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
capital letters	john ate at nando's on saturday.
full stops	The cat chased the mouse all over the house it raced under the table but the cat found it in the end
commas for lists	I ordered a cheese ham and tomato sandwich.
inverted commas to show speech	Look at that ! shouted the man angrily .
apostrophes for contraction	We'll get the sandwiches if you'll get the drinks.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence.
the preposition	The monkey dropped the banana on the floor.
the noun	I ate three sausages at teatime.
the proper nouns	Lisa and Michael went to Asda for Mother's Day cards.
the verbs	Steven and Somi went out to the garden where they played catch.
the co-ordinating conjunction	Liv loved to play on the swings, but they were all broken.
the determiners	Adrian and Amina sat on the seats near the door.
the expanded noun phrase	The small, crying baby was being stared at by the cat.
the adverbs	Finally, the car pulled silently in to the drive.
the adjectives	James ate a giant peach in a pretty park in New York.
the subordinating conjunction	If you want to go to the park, you need to put your shoes on.
the pronoun	They ran down the stairs and out of the door.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
capital letters and full stops	the monkeys looked through the bars at the zoo they saw lots of people looking at them they began to screech
inverted commas to show speech	The lambs are gamboling in the field , said Jenny .
apostrophe of possession	Lukes mum sat on the wall eating peaches.
apostrophes of contraction	I wont buy you that because youll break it.
commas for lists	The large haunted mansion stood at the top of the steep winding road.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence.
the nouns	Louise and Leah shouted at the cat which was crossing the road near a train.
the proper nouns	On Wednesday, I went to London to get some Lego figures.
the verbs	“Sit on the chair quickly!” she shouted.
the adjectives	The baby seal was cute and fluffy, and all the children loved it.
the expanded noun phrase	The plump, juicy strawberries had been picked straight from the garden.
the pronouns	If you wait over here, she’ll be with you soon.
the adverb	Later, I’ll cook dinner for the family.
the determiners	Open a window and let some fresh air in to the room.
the co-ordinating conjunction	I went to the shops and I also went to the park.
the prepositions	Sit on the carpet and look at the board.
the subordinating conjunction	While I was in the shops, it started to rain.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
inverted commas to show speech	Where shall I put it ? asked the man nervously holding the baby rabbit .
commas for lists	Go back to your tables with a whiteboard a pen and a rubber.
capital letters and full stops	alex and arlo walked to the shops on saturday they wanted to go to the skate park, but their skateboards were broken
apostrophes for contraction	Itll be Tuesday before youll be able to collect it.
apostrophes for possession	Lisas mum had left her bag in Simons car.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence.
the proper nouns	The Alhambra Cinema is currently showing Sherlock Holmes, Matilda and Toy Story.
the nouns	Place the meat into the pan with a little oil, and brown it on a low heat.
the adjectives	The young boy was extremely excited to receive the large ice-cream.
the verbs	Sit here for a moment, and then you can go and play.
the expanded noun phrase	I was walking next to the interesting, historical Hadrian's Wall.
the pronouns	We walked to the pool while they were walking back.
the determiners	Some people got a bus while others got the train.
the adverb	The old floorboards of the house creaked spookily at night.
the co-ordinating conjunction	It was very windy, so I didn't hang out my washing.
the preposition	The train line is next to the canal.
the subordinating conjunction	If you could have a wish, what would it be?
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
sentence punctuation	there were three children who were called ali, james and nick where were they going inverted commas to show speech	The girl screamed , Look out !
commas for lists	I like eggs ham cheese and cucumber in sandwiches, but not together!
apostrophes for contraction	I shant eat it and you cant make me!
apostrophes for possession	I borrowed my sisters shoes but they didn't fit well.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence.
the subordinating conjunction	I got really good at my times tables when I practised every day.
the nouns	The canteen were selling fish and chips or lasagne today.
the preposition	Isaac Newton sat under the apple tree to think.
the verbs	The people sat down quickly as the play began.
the determiners	These flowers were picked using a brand new machine.
the expanded noun phrase	The glorious sunset was photographed by many people.
the pronouns	“I’ll take yours and you can have mine,” said Louise.
the adverbs	The cockerel crowed loudly and repeatedly every morning.
the adjectives	The red racing-car zoomed through the sleepy village, throwing up a cloud of dust in its wake.
the co-ordinating conjunction	I can not eat my lunch, nor can I go out to play.
the proper nouns	David Beckham used to play for Manchester United.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
sentence punctuation	the children were in the dining room when they heard the door creak who could it be they clung together
! ? or .	Get out
commas for lists	There is 100% attendance for three classes this week – 5S 6A and 3R.
apostrophe of possession	The peoples votes for this weeks X-Factor contestants were being counted.
inverted commas to show speech	James answered , Yes please .

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence.
the proper nouns	Louis had fish and chips from Harry Ramsden's before going to the Arsenal match on Saturday.
the co-ordinating conjunction	I went to my grandma's house and then I went to the cinema.
the adjectives	The ferocious dog barked loudly through the broken fence.
the adverbs	After eating tea, we went outside to play while mum quickly washed up.
the pronouns	She's walking down your drive.
the expanded noun phrase	I wanted the brand-new, black Playstation for Christmas.
the determiners	There was an orange, an apple and a banana in the fruit bowl.
the verbs	The startled gazelle leapt gracefully over the fence.
the prepositions	The ball soared over the goal posts and into the watching crowd.
the nouns	The bottles fell into the recycling bin with a loud 'smash'.
the subordinating conjunction	I watched the T.V. while I waited for my tea to be cooked.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
inverted commas to show speech	He answered , Only on Tuesdays .
apostrophes for contraction	They didnt really want to eat there, but its her turn to choose.
apostrophe for possession	Mums birthday present had just arrived in the post.
sentence punctuation	the dog sat by the door his ears pricked up as he heard the car turning into the drive they were home
? ! or .	What a night

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence.
the adverb	Suddenly, the cat dashed across the road.
the prepositions	Jane and Sara looked under the bed and in the wardrobe but couldn't find their P.E. kits.
the expanded noun phrase	The beautiful, endangered rhino was protected by a team of volunteers.
the determiners	A giant crane was brought to the building site to help put the roof on the new school.
the verbs	The scarecrow waved crazily as the wind blew ever more strongly.
the adjectives	The old shoes needed new soles and a good polish before I could wear them again.
the nouns	The pencils were not sharp, so we could not write in our books with them.
the proper nouns	I wanted to watch 'Avengers' on Friday night, but everyone else wanted to watch 'Harry Potter'.
the pronouns	Would you like to eat your tea now, or would you prefer to open your presents first?
the prepositions	I stood in the puddle, and then realized that my waterproof shoes were inside the house.
the subordinating conjunction	Michael and grandad watched the match after eating lunch.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
sentence punctuation	the rain dripped through the hole in the roof right onto alfie's bed he dreamed he was swimming why was that inverted commas to show speech	John asked , Why do you want to go out in the rain ?
? ! or .	There is a cat outside the window
apostrophe for possession	Maisies friends were coming for their tea.
commas for lists	There were three cats two dogs and a rabbit at the house.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence.
the proper nouns	Aliya and Sunnah went shopping in Manchester at the weekend.
the adjectives	The old tree fell during the severe gale.
the pronouns	She sat and waited while he had his hair cut.
the determiners	A large, ripe plum fell from the tree onto the patio.
the prepositions	There were three children at the table and a further four sat on the floor.
the subordinating conjunctions	While the children ran around the playground, the teachers prepared for Sports Day.
the co-ordinating conjunction	I have never eaten pheasant, nor have I ever eaten squid.
the adverb	The monkeys finally stopped throwing bananas at the visitors.
the expanded noun phrase	My toys were tidied into the new, wicker baskets.
the verbs	The babies cried and cried during the firework display.
the noun	There were three sheep in the field as we drove past.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
commas for lists	The sparkling dazzling diamond caught the light.
apostrophes for possession	The foxes dens were being covered with snow.
? ! or .	Why don't you sit down
sentence punctuation	he sat down heavily on the bench and stared at the sea there was a huge cargo ship on the horizon
inverted commas to show speech	Jennifer said , I don't think it's still raining .

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence. Answers the adverbs	Yesterday , John and Mary went to the library and read quietly .
the determiners	I bought an apple, a banana and three packets of biscuits at the shop.
the proper nouns	Alex and Ali went into London to visit Hamleys , the famous toy shop.
the adjectives	Maria went out into the bright sunshine to admire all the beautiful flowers.
the nouns	The schoolchildren walked quickly and quietly through the museum to get back to their bus .
the co-ordinating conjunction	Elizabeth worked hard in English, but she didn't enjoy maths.
the verbs	Leanne and Greg played basketball while the other children watched and cheered them on.
the pronoun	The monkeys threw bananas and then ate them .
the subordinating conjunction	When the fire-alarm sounded, the children lined up silently.
the prepositions	The ball rolled down the path and under the bush.
the expanded noun phrase	The big, furry dog growled menacingly at the passers by.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
capital letters	L eah and J ack went to B uckingham P alace when they visited L ondon.
commas for lists	The zoo had baby lemurs, pandas, polar bears and camels.
apostrophes for contractions	The teacher didn't want to go outside in the rain.
inverted commas to show speech	"Get out of the flower bed !" shouted the gardener angrily .
Question mark, exclamation mark or full stop	What do you want for your tea?

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence. Answers
the co-ordinating conjunction	The children hated brussels sprouts, yet they ate them happily on Christmas Day.
the expanded noun phrase	I wrote a long, complicated story.
the adjectives	The cunning weasel carefully watched the tiny baby rabbit before pouncing.
the nouns	Adrian and Jenny walked out of the house and then ran down the road to catch the bus .
the subordinating conjunction	Mum tossed the pancakes while Ben poured out the batter and Louis set the table.
the preposition	James hid behind the sofa during the scary bits of 'Doctor Who'.
the proper nouns	Helen and Aisha enjoyed going on school trips, and the IMAX was their favourite yet.
the pronouns	Lisa hadn't done her homework, but Steve had done his .
the determiner	Michael ordered a huge burger because he was starving.
the verb	The cat watched the baby sparrow on the grass intently.
the adverbs	Brian always ate slowly , but today was a record!
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
question mark, exclamation mark or full stop	What a week!
inverted commas to show speech	"I want that one," said Andy pointing to a large bar of chocolate .
apostrophe of possession	Liam's mum always collected him on a Thursday.
apostrophes of contraction	I'd like to go to Disneyland, but I can't afford it.
capital letters	C atherine and A lan took their grandson, A lex, to the park.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence. Answers
the nouns	The pencil was part of a set I won at the fair
the prepositions	The children crossed over the main road, and then went through the gate and into the park.
the adjectives	The hungry boy ate all the chocolate cake in the fridge.
the proper nouns	Thornton Road leads onto Canterbury Avenue
the verbs	The young man looked at the menu and then ordered a cheese burger.
the expanded noun phrase	In the cemetery, I walked past the old, gnarled tree.
the determiners	Three pigeons sat on a branch.
the subordinating conjunction	After the goal was scored, the footballer celebrated.
the pronouns	They are sitting there, so we will sit here.
the co-ordinating conjunction	The boys were getting changed quickly so that they could go for lunch.
the adverb	Suddenly the car braked.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
capital letters	John ate at Nando's on Saturday.
full stops	The cat chased the mouse all over the house. It raced under the table but the cat found it in the end.
commas for lists	I ordered a cheese, ham and tomato sandwich.
inverted commas to show speech	"Look at that !" shouted the man angrily .
apostrophes for contraction	We'll get the sandwiches if you'll get the drinks.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence. Answers
the preposition	The monkey dropped the banana on the floor.
the noun	I ate three sausages at teatime.
the proper nouns	Lisa and Michael went to Asda for Mother's Day cards.
the verbs	Steven and Somi went out to the garden where they played catch.
the co-ordinating conjunction	Liv loved to play on the swings, but they were all broken.
the determiners	Adrian and Amina sat on the seats near the door.
the expanded noun phrase	The small, crying baby was being stared at by the cat.
the adverbs	Finally , the car pulled silently in to the drive.
the adjectives	James ate a giant peach in a pretty park in New York.
the subordinating conjunction	If you want to go to the park, you need to put your shoes on.
the pronoun	They ran down the stairs and out of the door.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
capital letters and full stops	T he monkeys looked through the bars at the zoo. T hey saw lots of people looking at them. T hey began to screech.
inverted commas to show speech	"The lambs are gamboling in the field," said Jenny.
apostrophe of possession	Luke's mum sat on the wall eating peaches.
apostrophes of contraction	I won't buy you that because you'll break it.
commas for lists	The large, haunted mansion stood at the top of the steep, winding road.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence. Answers
the nouns	Louise and Leah shouted at the cat which was crossing the road near a train.
the proper nouns	On Wednesday I went to London to get some Lego figures.
the verbs	"Sit on the chair quickly!" she shouted.
the adjectives	The baby seal was cute and fluffy, and all the children loved it.
the expanded noun phrase	The plump, juicy strawberries had been picked straight from the garden.
the pronouns	If you wait over here, she'll be with you soon.
the adverb	Later, I'll cook dinner for the family.
the determiners	Open a window and let some fresh air in to the room.
the co-ordinating conjunction	I went to the shops and I also went to the park.
the prepositions	Sit on the carpet and look at the board.
the subordinating conjunction	While I was in the shops, it started to rain.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
inverted commas to show speech	"Where shall I put it ?" asked the man nervously holding the baby rabbit .
commas for lists	Go back to your tables with a whiteboard, a pen and a rubber.
capital letters and full stops	Alex and Arlo walked to the shops on Saturday. They wanted to go to the skate park, but their skateboards were broken.
apostrophes for contraction	It'll be Tuesday before you'll be able to collect it.
apostrophes for possession	Lisa's mum had left her bag in Simon's car.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence. Answers the proper nouns	The Alhambra Cinema is currently showing Sherlock Holmes , Matilda and Toy Story .
the nouns	Place the meat into the pan with a little oil, and brown it on a low heat.
the adjectives	The young boy was extremely excited to receive the large ice-cream.
the verbs	Sit here for a moment, and then you can go and play .
the expanded noun phrase	I was walking next to the interesting, historical Hadrian's Wall .
the pronouns	We walked to the pool while they were walking back.
the determiners	Some people got a bus while others got the train.
the adverb	The old floorboards of the house creaked spookily at night.
the co-ordinating conjunction	It was very windy so I didn't hang out my washing.
the preposition	The train line is next to the canal.
the subordinating conjunction	If you could have a wish, what would it be?
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
sentence punctuation	There were three children who were called A li, J ames and N ick. W here were they going?
inverted commas to show speech	The girl screamed , " Look out !"
commas for lists	I like eggs, ham, cheese and cucumber in sandwiches, but not together!
apostrophes for contraction	I shan't eat it and you can't make me!
apostrophes for possession	I borrowed my sister's shoes but they didn't fit well.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence. Answers
the subordinating conjunction	I got really good at my times tables when I practised every day.
the nouns	The canteen were selling fish and chips or lasagne today.
the preposition	Isaac Newton sat under the apple tree to think.
the verbs	The people sat down quickly as the play began .
the determiners	These flowers were picked using a brand new machine.
the expanded noun phrase	The glorious sunset was photographed by many people.
the pronouns	"I'll take yours and you can have mine ," said Louise.
the adverbs	The cockerel crowed loudly and repeatedly every morning.
the adjectives	The red racing-car zoomed through the sleepy village, throwing up a cloud of dust in its wake.
the co-ordinating conjunction	I can not eat my lunch, nor can I go out to play.
the proper nouns	David Beckham used to play for Manchester United .
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
sentence punctuation	T he children were in the dining room when they heard the door creak. W ho could it be? T hey clung together.
! ? or .	Get out!
commas for lists	There is 100% attendance for three classes this week - 5S, 6A and 3R.
apostrophe of possession	The people's votes for this week's X-Factor contestants were being counted.
inverted commas to show speech	James answered , "Yes please ."

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence. Answers
the proper nouns	Louis had fish and chips from Harry Ramsden's before going to the Arsenal match on Saturday.
the co-ordinating conjunction	I went to my grandma's house and then I went to the cinema.
the adjectives	The ferocious dog barked loudly through the broken fence.
the adverbs	After eating tea, we went outside to play while mum quickly washed up.
the pronouns	She's walking down your drive.
the expanded noun phrase	I wanted the brand-new, black Playstation for Christmas.
the determiners	There was an orange, an apple and a banana in the fruit bowl.
the verbs	The startled gazelle leapt gracefully over the fence.
the prepositions	The ball soared over the goal posts and into the watching crowd.
the nouns	The bottles fell into the recycling bin with a loud 'smash'.
the subordinating conjunction	I watched the T.V. while I waited for my tea to be cooked.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
inverted commas to show speech	He answered , " Only on Tuesdays . "
apostrophes for contraction	They didn't really want to eat there, but it's her turn to choose.
apostrophe for possession	Mum's birthday present had just arrived in the post.
sentence punctuation	The dog sat by the door. His ears pricked up as he heard the car turning into the drive. They were home!
? ! or .	What a night!

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?,	Circle it in the sentence. Answers the adverb	Suddenly the cat dashed across the road.
the prepositions	Jane and Sara looked under the bed and in the wardrobe but couldn't find their P.E. kits.
the expanded noun phrase	The beautiful, endangered rhino was protected by a team of volunteers.
the determiners	A giant crane was brought to the building site to help put the roof on the new school.
the verbs	The scarecrow waved crazily as the wind blew ever more strongly.
the adjectives	The old shoes needed new soles and a good polish before I could wear them again.
the nouns	The pencils were not sharp, so we could not write in our books with them.
the proper nouns	I wanted to watch Avengers on Friday night, but everyone else wanted to watch Harry Potter .
the co-ordinating conjunction	Would you like to eat your tea now or would you prefer to open your presents first?
the pronoun	I stood in the puddle, and then realized that my waterproof shoes were inside the house.
the subordinating conjunction	Michael and grandad watched the match after eating lunch.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
sentence punctuation	The rain dripped through the hole in the roof right onto Alfie's bed. He dreamed he was swimming. Why was that?
inverted commas to show speech	John asked , "Why do you want to go out in the rain ?"
? ! or .	There is a cat outside the window.
apostrophe for possession	Maisie's friends were coming for their tea.
commas for lists	There were three cats, two dogs and a rabbit at the house.

Vocabulary Ninja – SPaG Spotter

Can you spot?	Circle it in the sentence. Answers
the proper nouns	Aliya and Sunnah went shopping in Manchester at the weekend.
the adjectives	The old tree fell during the severe gale.
the pronouns	She sat and waited while he had his hair cut.
the determiners	A large, ripe plum fell from the tree onto the patio.
the prepositions	There were three children at the table and a further four sat on the floor.
the subordinating conjunctions	While the children ran around the playground, the teachers prepared for Sports Day.
the co-ordinating conjunction	I have never eaten pheasant, nor have I ever eaten squid.
the adverb	The monkeys finally stopped throwing bananas at the visitors.
the expanded noun phrase	My toys were tidied into the new, wicker baskets.
the verbs	The babies cried and cried during the firework display.
the noun	There were three sheep in the field as we drove past.
Can you add?	Add it to the sentence in the correct place.
commas for lists	The sparkling, dazzling diamond caught the light.
apostrophes for possession	The foxes' dens were being covered with snow.
? ! or .	Why don't you sit down?
sentence punctuation	He sat down heavily on the bench and stared at the sea. There was a huge cargo ship on the horizon.
inverted commas to show speech	Jennifer said , " I don't think it's still raining . "